Patricia Alejo, CAIA
Portfolio Manager, Pontificia Universidad Javeriana - Colombia

Patricia Alejo is Portfolio Manager at Pontificia Universidad Javeriana, the largest private university in Colombia, with over 22.000 students. Ms. Alejo's previous experience includes risk management at a multilateral institution focused in foreign reserves management for some Latin-American countries and also worked at the Colombian Ministry of Finance. Ms. Alejo holds a BS in Finance from Universidad Externado de Colombia, Bogotá, plus postgraduate studies in Risk Management and executive education programs taken in New Zealand and Colombia. Ms. Alejo's main areas of expertise have been risk and portfolio management, particularly in Private Equity and other Alternative Investments. Currently, she is a CAIA charterholder and Level II candidate of the CFA.